

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood. It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work. Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected, and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone. If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Write to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

To Boom California.

To offset the lingering effects of the San Francisco earthquake a movement which has been shaping for the past four months has at last taken definite form in the Development Society of California. Its avowed purpose is to expend from half a million to a million dollars in legitimate advertising of California's unrivaled resources and attractions throughout the middle west and the eastern states.—San Francisco Argonaut.

INVITATIONS TO FUNERALS.

The funeral invitation is becoming quite popular in Pittsburg. Sounds strange, but nevertheless it is a fact. The invitations are printed on heavy paper, such as is used for wedding invitations, with a broad black border. There are many printers in town catering to the fashionables who print the funeral invitations while you wait. An invitation to attend the funeral of a woman who was prominently identified with church affairs the other day read something after the following order: "You are respectfully invited to attend the funeral of Mrs. Blank, who died Monday morning. Services will be held at her home Wednesday at 8:30 o'clock. Interment at Glendale cemetery Thursday at 10 a. m. Please do not send flowers. Yours respectfully, A. Blank."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Swallowed Her Booty.

Paris has a new brand of thief. A man who had had supper by himself in a cafe at a table next to a pretty woman called for his bill and put down a French sovereign. "Do let me bite it," cried the lady; "it brings luck." The man had no objection. A gold Louis bitten by a fair lady would certainly not lose in value. She bit, then gulped and screamed: "A million pardons! I have swallowed it!" The man had, it seems, come across the auriferous species of lady before and instead of letting her and the sovereign go he ungallantly called in the police. They all went to the station, where the inspector passed sentence of ipecacuanha. The lady evidently feeds on gold, for three sovereigns were recovered. The rightful owner of two of them is unknown.

Du Maurier Heroines.

When Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett was first presented to Du Maurier, who was, in point of fact, rather an undersized man, she exclaimed:

"Oh, I am so glad that you are not six feet tall!"

"But why?" asked Du Maurier.

"Because for these many months," replied Mrs. Burnett, who is considerably below the medium height, "you have simply denied us the right to live. You have made us feel that a woman who is not six feet tall has not the right to exist."

"Oh, that is only a trick of mine!" laughed Du Maurier. "I have started again and again to make my heroine a little woman, but before I know it she has somehow grown way beyond my own recognition."

Heaviest Rails.

The rails on the Belt Line road in Philadelphia are the heaviest in the world. They weigh 142 pounds to the yard and are seventeen pounds heavier than any rails ever before used. They are ballasted in concrete, and nine inch girders were used to bind them. All the curves and spurs were made of the same heavy rails, and the tracks are superior to any railroad section ever undertaken. The rails were made especially by the Pennsylvania Steel company for the Pennsylvania railroad. An officer of the Pennsylvania road stated that this section of road would last twenty-five years without repairs.

Argument by Inference.

A Dr. McKee gets off the following in substance in the Medico-Legal Journal: "A certain eminent Chicago doctor was called in as an expert. To show his standing the lawyer asked him if he was not the physician who attended P. D. Armour, George M. Pullman, Potter Palmer, Marshall Field and several other millionaire Chicagoans. The opposing lawyer took up the case and asked in turn what had become of these different men, calling them, one by one, by name, and the grave answer came to each question, 'He is dead.' 'I believe I have no more questions to ask,' concluded the lawyer."

Alpine Ascents.

Alpine guides have reaped the past season the richest harvest of the last twenty-five years. One veteran declares that the peaks have been "crowded like railway stations" all through the summer. He ridicules the idea that climbing accidents have been unusually frequent this year. Over a million tourists, he points out, ascend every year peaks of 3,000 feet and more, while the average number of serious accidents is not more than 100.—London Mail.

Turks in Byron's Place.

Europe has completely deserted Philhellenism. There is no longer a Byron to sing the Hellenic virtues, to fight for Greek independence and to die miserably at Missolonghi. Philhellenism has found a last refuge among the military and political chiefs of the sultan.—Courrier of Sophia.

Any silk that has spots of mud on it can usually be cleaned by rubbing well with a piece of dry flannel. If the spots will not come out, try rubbing with a soft cloth wet with alcohol.

Keep a wet sponge in the cabinet with ivory carvings or carvings. It will provide moisture that prevents cracking from dry heat.
